Publishing Agreement and Grant Of Rights

portal: Libraries and the Academy

The Johns Hopkins University Press (the Press) and the editors of portal: Libraries and the Academy hereby agree to publish your contribution entitled Situating Information Literacy Within the Curriculum: Using a Rubric to Shape a Program (the Article) in portal: Libraries and the Academy (the Journal) under the following conditions.

1. You, as the Author of the Article, grant to the Press and to the editors a royalty-free, non-exclusive right to publish the Article in all forms of media including electronic, cd-rom, online, discs, microfiche or microfilm, print, and forms yet to be invented.
2. You represent and warrant to the Press and to the editors that the Article is original, that you have full power to make this agreement and that you are the sole author(s); that the Article has not been previously published, in whole or in part, except as you have informed the Press and editors in writing; that no other agreement to publish the Article is now outstanding; that you have used all reasonable care to ensure that all facts and statements in the Article are true; and that your contribution is not defamatory, unlawful, libelous, or violative of any right of privacy, common law, or statutory copyright or other personal or property rights.
3. In any re-publication of the Article that you might authorize you will credit the Journal as the original place of publication.

If these terms are satisfactory to you, please sign and date both copies of this agreement and return one copy.

We are unable to publish your article without a signed copy of this form.
