Curators' Statement

The images in this exposition are representative of the 2020–2021 COVID–19 Pandemic. As governments attempted to slow down the viral spread, the world shifted away from social effervescence towards isolated pods, distancing and sanitation protocols, and virtual interactions. Public spaces, once packed with people, now turned into empty arenas, as everyday services and necessities also adapted to this new reality. As the situation unfolds, we join the visitor to evaluate our losses, experiences, feelings, and hopes.
